MENU

The answer to the question “Live to eat or eat to live?” in Antioch is “Live to eat”

The city of Hatay, also known as Antakya, has been a tourist and pilgrimage destination for centuries. Founded by one of Alexander the Great's generals as Antioch, the city was one of the centers of early Christianity.

Antioch hosted 13 of the 23 civilizations; a city where Arabians, Turkmen, Circassians, Christians, The Jewish, Armenians, Nosairians and Sunni people lived together for hundreds of years, and civilizations and cultures were united. Due to the richness of all these ethnic origins and religions, the cuisine culture is also well-developed. Located on the Spice and Silk Roads, being a door to Mesopotamia and the Middle East.

Antioch became center of culture, good cuisine and historical places. One of the most famous places in Antioch is museum of archeology which contains 120 sculptures, 3500 square meters of mosaic, 942 coins, 90 pieces in the showcase, thousands of works, mosaic space animations, sculpture exhibition areas, salvation streets will be exhibited as the largest mosaic collection in the world. Last mosaic that was found during the salvage excavation became the most famous because of the message written on it “be cheerful live your life”.

Antioch is a quite rich city in terms of its cuisine culture, the kitchen utensils that have been used for hundreds of years, and preservation of the local recipes and passing them from generation to generation.

In Antioch cuisine, fresh vegetable, olive oil, legumes and grains are used, in short, it involves all the ingredients that are used in a typical Mediterranean cuisine. Grains, legumes, vegetables, fruits, indigenous herbs and spices growing in Antioch resulted in Antioch cuisine having more than 650 its own dishes. There is a large variety of cooking techniques of the vegetables, grains, and legumes in Antioch, such as boiling and frying. And they are stored through sun-drying and conserving. These agricultural ingredients are cooked through marinating, boiling, sauteing, frying or grilling along with meat, chicken, and fish.

Antioch has been declared as the 26th Gastronomy City of the World by UNESCO in 2017.
